The 2019 Eagles are the second group to go through this awesome leader- in- training program here at Fair Acres. All Eagles were selected based on their outstanding leadership potential and their history here at Fair Acres as campers in the past. Our goal is to create a group of young leaders who, over the course of six weeks, will develop and use practical leadership skills, such as teamwork, communication, collaboration, commitment, imagination, creativity, and responsibility. The Eagle program is perfect for preparing Eagles for the future to take on leadership roles, or even become a counselor in the future.

The Eagles have engaged in numerous teambuilding and innovative games and projects, all designed to foster growth of individuals and develop as leaders. This summer the Eagles have worked on projects relating to what makes a successful leader, success within teamwork, how to get along with all people, and how to learn from mistakes. They have used collaboration and determination all summer to successfully complete these tasks such as building the most exciting model water slide, creating and using solar ovens to make snacks, and creating new camp games.

The Eagles were able to take 2 field trips to Sandy Neck Beach this summer. The week of the trip Eagles designed and painted kindness rocks that they placed at the Kindness Garden at Sandy Neck Beach in Sandwich, as a part of a national movement to uplift others and spread kindness and positivity.

Through "squawk talks" we reflected on daily activities and how to apply them through our different experiences we may face. This reflection allowed Eagles to sometimes see the challenges we face and how we can take them on in different ways.
